

ESTIMATE LOSSES IN THE MILLIONS

PREMIER MAKES SURVEY OF THE SITUATION AND FINDS CON-DITIONS DEPLORABLE.

THE SEINE STILL RISING

Scarcity of Food Causes Much Suffering for the Rich as Well as the Poor.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Jan. 26.—Premier Briand and the minister of finance today estimated the flood losses would already reach two hundred million dollars.

The Seine continues to rise and the situation grows worse hourly.
Storms of rain, snow and hail are falling everywhere and the whole country is now stormbound. Ships are seeking refuge in the harbors.

All France is giving a fine exhibition of pluck and solidarity, and the people are united in trying to solve the problem of relief.

The rich as well as the poor are beginning to suffer because of the lack of light and heat and food prices are soaring.

Two bakers were thrown into the Seine today by a mob for doubling the price of bread.

Details from the flooded districts in the provinces are most harrowing.

Paris, Jan. 26.—Great sections of the French capital are under water, six miles square. The Hotel de Bonlogne is submerged and the waters have inundated the Palais Bourbon, the foreign office and scores of historic monuments along each side of the river.

A special meeting of the cabinet was held today to consider means to cope with the situation.

Military forces have been summoned from all parts of the country.

In Paris the situation becomes more desperate momentarily. The Rue Royale, the famous church edifice, is sinking.

Several streets and boulevards have begun to cave in.

The owners of rowboats now demand fabulous prices to remove fur-ture and valuables to places of safety.

Hundreds of persons have perished in the valley of the Doubs. Floods throughout France have reached the dimensions of a great national calamity.

SENDS LEGISLATURE A SPECIAL MESSAGE

Governor Daneen Says Special Interests Seek to Restrict Lake to Gulf River Navigation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 26.—Governor Daneen today sent a special message to the legislature, declaring there were certain influential interests at work seeking to nullify the expressed will of the people as to the construction of the lake-to-the-gulf deep waterway.

He takes up objections to the proposed plan and says it is plain that the only ones interested who can profit by delaying the project are individuals and corporations who hope to avail themselves of the vast waterpower which has been created by diverting waters from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river by way of the sanitary district channel at Des Plaines, Illinois, and the Mississippi river by public expenditure which, when completed, will reach eighty millions.

A resolution was introduced into the house by Amador which provides for an investigation by the legislature as to the causes of the high prices for necessaries of life.

HOPE IS ABANDONED FOR ANY DECISION

Test Case of the Payne Law Relative to Report on Corporations Will Be Delayed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Jan. 26.—All hope of procuring a decision from the supreme court of the United States in regard to the constitutionality of the Payne law provisions of the date by which the corporation must have made their return before the close of the year has been abandoned.

There is hope that the questions may be determined before the close of the period of the payment of the tax by June 30th.

GRAND JURY BEGAN ITS LABORS TODAY

Chicago Inquiry Into Prices as to Coal
Have Been Started Before Judge Landis.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 26.—The federal grand jury today began an investigation into the methods of the alleged "coal trust." The first witness was C.
S. Snow, secretary and treasurer of the National Packing company.

Thirty subpoenas were served on the officers of the National, Armour, Swift, and Morris companies today.
It is said the subpoenas were served on prominent officials.

REVOLVER ACCIDENT WILL END IN DEATH

Same Old Story—Guy Doyle of Wausaukee, Aged Sixteen, the Victim This Time.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Marquette, January 26.—Guy Doyle, aged 16, was accidentally shot in the arm by a boy named Pupper at Wausaukee. Doyle handed Pupper a revolver to hold and Pupper said, "Is it loaded?" and the gun was discharged, Doyle cannot live.

WILL PROMOTERS SPOIL BIG FIGHT BY THEIR SCRAP?

Reported in New York That the Johnson-Jeffries Fight May Be Declared Off.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Jan. 26.—It is reported here that the Johnson-Jeffries fight will shortly be declared off on account of the dispute of the promoters as to the place where it is to be held. Pennsylvania is said to be seeking the big battle.

THROWS CASE OUT OF COURT TODAY ENDING THE SUIT

Libel Suit Against the New York World Is Settled by Judge's Decision.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Jan. 26.—The federal court today threw out of court the libel suit against the New York World for alleged libel in connection with the publication of a story concerning the Panama canal purchase.

ENDORSED THE IDEA TAFT RECOMMENDED

American Merchant Marine Is Backed by the National Board of Trade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The National Board of Trade convention today unanimously endorsed the various resolutions for the American merchant marine as recommended by President Taft. The investigation of the high cost of living occupied the delegates early today. The committee appointed to carry on this investigation will report later.

DENIES STORY THAT THE LOBBY EXISTED

Testimony Before Congressional Committee Is Stricken From the Record.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The charges by Representative Wheeler before the senate committee that former President Roosevelt and President Taft had maintained in Washington an "Alaskan lobby" in the interest of the timbering industry, were denounced by Chairman Beveridge of the committee, which has eliminated a portion of the delegate's testimony from the records.

GERMANY REFUSES TO MAKE ANY DELAY

Will Not Wait Until March to Put Their Tariff Regulations
In Operation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, Jan. 26.—The reply of the foreign office to the request of the United States that the application of Germany's general tariff to American imports be deferred until March 21st is understood to be a non-acceptance of the suggestion for any delay.

MAY TRAIN CO-EDS IN BABY CULTURE

University of Wisconsin to Establish Course in Baby Training for Women Students Perhaps.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 26.—Prof. Abby Marlatt, head of the home economics department at the university, has an opinion relative to the wisdom of establishing a course for co-eds for training them in the proper care of the cradling babies.

"However, at this time I will not break into print on the topic," said
Mr. Marlatt.

In discussing the topic she intimated that it was a pressing question which gave Dr. Edna D. Day of the University of Missouri so much trouble recently regarding this question. At Columbia Dr. Day holds a position similar to Miss Marlatt's here. According to press reports, every member of the home economics class at Missouri took up the work,
despite the fact it was an elective.
As a result of a canvass made by a group of young women who are taking the course in home economics at Wisconsin, it was the consensus of opinion that it would be a popular innovation here.

Dr. Day is looking for a philanthropist who will endow a school for baby culture at Missouri. She announced that half a dozen babies will be needed as subjects for experiments. The work is being taken up with a new baby, who is the envy of every male student in the "show-men" university. This pioneer move in this agitation believes it is almost certain for young women to marry without any knowledge of the care of children.

In the event the scheme is tried in Madison on a similar plan to that adopted in the neighboring state it would prove to be popular with Missouri mothers for it is planned to have the women of Columbia send their children to the laboratory nursery while they are upon shopping or calling expeditions.

JURISTS WILL TALK OF LEGAL PRACTICE

District Court Judges Of Kansas Meet
In Topeka—Bar Association
Meets Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Topeka, Kas., Jan. 26.—The Supreme Court room was well filled all day with district court judges from all parts of the state, attending the regular annual conference for the discussion of law-practice and matters of practice and procedure. The state bar association will hold its regular annual meeting tomorrow and the day following.

Among the papers read at the judges' conference were many of unusual interest, among them "The Civil Code of 1902," by Judge Oscar Pound of Iowa; "The Divorce Cases," by Judge
J. O. Rankin of Ohio; "Does the Criminal Act Need Revision?" by Judge
A. W. Dunn of Topeka; "The Workings of the 1907 Practice Law," by Judge C.
A. Smith of Ottawa; "Should Public Damages by Private Spill or Public Penalty?" by Judge C. L. Leach of Dodge City; "Should Public Criticism of the Court," by Judge R. M.
Hickler of Smith Center; "Is the Judgeship Unduly a Political Office?"
by Judge Charles E. Lobdell of Larned.

NEW YORK SOCIETY BEAUTY IS MARRIED

Miss Blanche Oelrichs Today Became
the Bride Of Leonard M. Thomas Of Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 26.—The wedding of Miss Blanche Oelrichs, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M.
Oelrichs, and Leonard M. Thomas of Philadelphia took place in the upper parlor of the bride's parents in Park avenue today. Archbishop Barry had granted a special dispensation, allowing the ceremony to take place at the home instead of in the church. Except for the limited number of people present, the surroundings of the wedding were on a splendid scale. The splendid drawing rooms were superbly decorated.

Early this morning Mr. Michael
L. Lavello, who performed the ceremony, celebrated high mass, the congregation consisting of the party which assembled later at the wedding.
The marriage ceremony was performed in front of a temporary altar erected at one end of the drawing room. Miss Cecelia May of Washington was Miss Oelrichs' maid of honor.
There were no bridesmaids, but Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, and Charles Martin, the bride's little nephew acted as trainbearers.

William S. Hill was Mr. Thomas's best man, and the bridesmaids were Charles and Harry Oelrichs, O'Donnell
Larkin, James Barnes, William Port,
Adolph Berke and T. Markos Rohlinson.

The bride is one of the most interesting young women in New York and Newport society, and her dark style of beauty has attracted much attention.
She is fond of outdoor sports and plays a dashing game of tennis. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oelrichs and is a sister of Mrs.
Peter D. Martin, who is noted for her beauty, and of Charles De Looney and Harry E. Oelrichs.

Mr. Thomas, the bridegroom, is a son of the late George C. Thomas, who was a member of the banking firm of Drexel, Morgan and Company of Philadelphia. He was graduated from Yale in 1901 and has been an attache of the Legation of the United States in Madrid and the Embassy in Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, it is understood, will spend their honeymoon in California. They will return East in time for the opening of the season at Newport, where Mr. Thomas has rented "Quintreford," one of the finest cottages on Narragansett avenue.

FARMERS AND FRUIT GROWERS GATHER AT GREAT CONVENTIONS

New York Horticulturists Meet At Rochester—Keystone Agriculturalists Meet At Harrisburg.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Fruit growers from all parts of the state, especially from the western counties, are assembled here in large number to attend the annual meeting of the Western New York Horticultural society, which opened its two-day session today. The association is the oldest and largest fruit growers' organization in this state, being now 55 years old. A highly interesting program has been prepared and scores of subjects of importance and interest to fruit growers are to be discussed by some of the best authorities and experts in the East. In addition to the regular sessions and scheduled addresses there will be separate roundtable meetings in which matters of special interest to growers of peaches and grapes will be discussed. The exhibits of fruit by the insect exhibit from the College of Agriculture at Cornell university are attracting considerable attention.

Keystone Farmers Meet.
Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 26.—The annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Board of Agriculture opened here today with an unusually large attendance. The meeting will last two days and will close tomorrow evening. Sessions will be held every morning, afternoon and evening and it is expected that Governor Edwin S. Stuart, who is ex-officio president of the board, will address the meeting at one of the sessions. At the opening session this morning papers on interesting subjects and committee reports were submitted by A. P.
Young, of Millville; Dr. M. E. Conrad, of Westgrove; George G. Hutchinson, of Warriors Mark and D. S. Taylor of Burgetstown. In the afternoon session special reports were submitted by a number of experts, among them
Prof. W. A. Buckhout, of State College; Gabriel Heister, of Harrisburg;
Dr. William Frear, of State College;
Dr. H. D. Moore, of New Lexington;
Dr. H. P. Arnold, of State College;
and Dr. W. F. Barclay, of Enola.

GREAT FINANCIER PASSES 77TH YEAR

Cornelius N. Bliss, Former Secretary Of the Interior and Prominent In Politics, Observes Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 26.—Cornelius N.
Bliss, former Secretary of the Interior and for a number of years treasurer of the National Republican Committee, celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday today. Mr. Bliss is not among the great financiers and capitains of industry who believe in keeping in harness until the end. Though still as robust and vigorous as many a man of younger years, he is taking steps to relieve himself of all business cares and spend the remainder of his days in quiet. On July 1 he will retire from the firm of Bliss, Bakewell and Co., the great dry goods commission house of which he has been the active head for the past thirty years.

MONTREAL TO HOLD A WINTER CARNIVAL

Magnificent Ice Palace Has Been Built and Winter Sports Will Be a Feature.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Montreal, Que., Jan. 26.—The city is rapidly filling with visitors, many of them from the United States, and the hotel are kept busy to accommodate the guests attracted by this opening of the first great winter carnival, in several years held in Montreal. The carnival will last also days and end on February 5.—The weather prospects, always a matter of importance with winter carnivals, are favorable and it is expected that this year's carnival will surpass in brilliancy all its predecessors. The ice palace is a magnificent structure and will be brilliantly illuminated every night. Special attention has been paid to the athletic and sporting feature of the festival and there will be championship contests in skating, tobogganing, hockey, curling, snowshoeing and skiing. On Friday evening the ice palace will be stormed and a great display of the works.

CONCISE NOTES ON DAY'S HAPPENINGS

Interstate Roads Planned—Australian Celebrate—Other Conventions
In Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 26.—The great road movement in the intermountain country is promised a great impetus as a result of the interstate convention which began a three days' session here today. Delegates are in attendance from Colorado, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming. It is proposed to adopt a system for the construction of interstate highways that will be particularly adapted to the topographical, climatic and other requirements of this section of the country.

Australians Celebrating.
Sydney, N. S. W., Jan. 26.—The one hundred and twenty-second anniversary of the establishment of the first white settlement in Australia, in the present province of New South Wales, is being celebrated throughout Australia today. In all large cities celebrations of an official character have been arranged, including, in most cases, banquets and appropriate commemorative addresses.

Forest Destruction.
Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26.—The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Retail Lumber Dealers' association began in this city today, with headquarters at the Hotel Walton. President S. C. Crenay, of Bloomsburg, called the gathering to order. Freight rates and forest destruction are the principal questions to be discussed during the three days' session.

Diocese Of Georgia.
Americus, Ga., Jan. 26.—Bishop J.
F. Roese presided today at the initial session of the annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Georgia.
Delegates from many parts of the state were in attendance.

Highways Convention.
St. Augustine, Fla., Jan. 26.—The International League of Highway Improvements, which was organized a year ago, began its first annual convention in this city today with delegates in attendance from many states.
The convention will remain in session
two days.

Fruit Men Meet.
Sparta, Ga., Jan. 26.—Georgia fruit growers met here today and opened the thirty-fourth annual convention of the State Horticultural Society, which will last two days. The program includes reports, addresses and discussions on horticultural topics.

FURIOUS BUYING MARKS OPENING OF NEW YORK BOARD

Shorts Show Great Eagerness to Buy Back Stocks Sold at Discount Yesterday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Jan. 26.—The furious buying of stocks at the opening today caused a volatile upshot of prices in all quarters. The rush to buy was even more hasty and indiscriminate than the selling to unload yesterday.
The eagerness uncovered the shorts and the close of their contracts was the important element in the movement of the prices.

The attractive profits shown caused realizing later and many leading stocks reacted a point. The speculation then became quieter.

MINERS' UNION HAS REVERSED DECISION

Turns Down the President in His Ruling as to Seating Delegates to the Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—The roll call of the convention of the United Mine Workers on whether or not delegates from nine local unions in central Pennsylvania shall be seated, resulted as follows: For 1,099; against, 1,527.
The majority were adverse to President Lewis and in this result is the second decisive defeat of his administration in this convention.

A general strike of the bituminous coal fields of the United States and Canada will be called if the mine operators in all or any districts refuse to sign contracts for granting the increase of wages, according to declarations of many of the leaders of the convention today.

AWARDED PLAINTIFF SIX CENTS DAMAGES

Marquette Man Wanted $10,000 for Being Called "Chicken Thief."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Marquette, Wis., Jan. 26.—Michael Conners was awarded six cents in civil court here today as a claim for his injured feelings. He sued Ben Bek, a local saloon man, for $10,000 damages, claiming that Bek had called him a chicken thief. The defendant maintained that he had called him a "chicken thief" and not a chicken thief. He said a chicken thief was a person always skipping about, putting his nose into other people's business. The jury was out only a short time.

TWELVE YEARS FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Halfbreed Sent to Prison for Long Term for Assaulting Five-year-old Girl.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Waupun, Wis., Jan. 26.—John Angus, aged 27, a halfbreed Indian, pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of assault upon a five-year-old girl and was sentenced by Judge Iddle to 12 years at Waupun. The assault was committed at Spirit Falls.

NATIONALISTS TO ASSIST LIBERALS

NO QUESTION BUT THEY WILL STAND BY THE BUDGET.

STILL DOUBT OF TOTALS

Just What Majority Over the Old Tory Party Will Be, Remains As Yet Unsettled.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Jan. 26.—Thirty results out of thirty-nine left over from yesterday's elections gave the Unionists four gains, the Liberals two. Premier Asquith and Richard D. Blalock were re-elected.

According to the latest estimate of the prospective Liberal-Irish-Labor majority is 116.

The election excitement has now spent itself, as the only question involved is whether the majority of the anti-Unionists will be over or under 100.

Already the Times has declared that to pass tariff reform in the face of the solid hostility of the great industrial centers in the north of England and in Scotland is impossible.

This is a dire blow to the protectionists, and will compel the Tory party to seek some other policy.

The Times suggests a conference between the leading men of both sides to agree upon a scheme for the house of lords reform, or possibly the formation of a neutral ministry under some influential moderate politician to tide over the crisis until the next general election.

But the Liberals, emerging victorious from a struggle which the party represented by the Times used every engine of intimidation and corruption against them, do not intend to be vanquished.

Churchill and Lloyd-George, the real leaders in this fight, are for demanding full retribution from the lords, who provoked the fight by claiming unlimited veto power over finance as well as legislation.

A great play is being made by the Tories with the fact that the main part of Premier Asquith's majority is Irish. But the Tories can't have it both ways. If they insist on keeping Irish members in the English parliament, they must put up with the consequences.

Irish Do Valiant Work.
The Tories are also discovering that the splendid organization of the United Irish League in England, by T. P.
O'Connor who marshaled "the Irish votes, won forty seats for the Liberals in England and sixteen in Scotland.

The king will open parliament with full state ceremony, Feb. 15. Various measures are expected to be promulged in the speech from the throne. Among them the unemployed insurance, as recently detailed by Churchill, and the veto of the house of lords. The veto question will be the first to be taken up after the address; in reply to the speech is disposed of.

According to a rumor, Premier Asquith's present idea is only to propose that the house of lords be deprived of the power of vetoing finance bills, but it is practically certain that such a restricted measure will not satisfy the Nationalists, to say nothing of the Radicals, and unless the government proposes to limit the lords' veto on all legislation it is exceedingly likely that there will be a split.

More Unionist Gains.
Twenty-five results announced yesterday complete the returns from Monday's balloting. Of the seats decided the Unionists take sixteen, the Liberals five, the Nationalists three and the Laborites one.

The standing of the parties as known this afternoon is:
Government coalition—Liberals, 207;
Irish Nationalists, 72; Laborites, 35;
total, 314.

Opposition—Unionists, 237.
The Unionists have a monopoly of today's gains, placing to their credit eight in the twenty-five returns.

Asquith's majority for Worcestershire east, and Sir A. F. Adair-Hood for the West Division of Somersetshire, the chief Unionist whips, are

LIVELY SESSION OF SOCIAL UNION CLUB

Discussion of Wages, Profits and Cost of Living Brought Forth Many Arguments.

An animated discussion on Wages, Profits and the present day cost of living marked the session of the Social Union club at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening. Among other things the cost of living was thoroughly discussed as a corporation compared with nothing; the profit-sharing system of manufacturing plants was denounced as being unfair and other wages and labor conditions were debated on. Altogether the session was quite as lively as any the club has had this season.

Speaking of the wages paid to the American laborer, Prof. A. B. West discussed the subject of "Wages, Profits and Present." The Skill and Efficiency of the American Workman was dealt with by C. H. Homingway, who presented figures comparing the American workman with the laboring men of other countries, especially England. His figures were questioned by George Wheeler, who stated that in his opinion, the American workman would excel in the quantity of work done, but the English workman in the quality of labor performed. Profits and their distribution were taken up by Charles L. Mohr, who talked on the "Distribution of Profits Between Capital and Labor Under the Present System," and Joseph Shuler, who spoke on "Other Proposed Systems For the Distribution of Profits." The question of "The Increase in Wages As Compared With the Cost of Living" was handled in a comprehensive manner by Fred J. Holt.

The best trust was dealt a body blow by Francis C. Grant, whose subject was "The Present Cost of Living As A Subject For Investigation For Congress." The greatness of the oil combine, he said, was insignificant compared to this trust, which controls practically the sale of all foods. Through its system of refrigerator lines and its hold on the railroads, all of which are subservient to it, it effects its tyranny over the people. Trust regulation of the transportation takes half of the crops to market then.

The program was followed by a general discussion in which H. S. Lowrey put forth strong arguments against the profit-sharing plan as giving favors to those who worked in shops where the practice was in vogue, and denying them to others whose only compensation was the salary received.

OBITUARY.

Kathryn Castator.
(Special to this Gazette.)
Spring Valley, Jan. 25.—Miss Kathryn Castator died last Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Castator. She had been failing in health for some time, but the news of her death came as a sudden shock to her many friends. The funeral was held Thursday and the body was interred in Greenwood cemetery in Broadhead.

Mrs. Julia A. Smith.
Mrs. Julia Smith, who died at her home in Clinton last Friday morning, after a brief illness with pneumonia, was born at Hartford, Conn., Nov. 7, 1825. Her maiden name was Julia A. Chamberlain and her father was a prominent architect in that historic town. In appreciation of his public services his daughter was given from tuition at Miss Rockwell's private school. The family came west in 1837 and after they had settled in the new home the young woman's education was continued at Miss Field's seminary in Beloit. She was married in 1841 to Peter Smith, postmaster and storekeeper, who moved to a farm in the town of LaFayette, where they continued to reside until Mr. Smith's death in 1862. Thereafter Mrs. Smith and her daughter, Addie, went to live with her parents. In 1875, in company with her mother, they took up their residence at Clinton. The surviving relatives are the daughter, a sister, Mrs. Sarah Doctolander of Shopshire, and a brother, James Chamberlain of Jamesville. Mrs. Smith was a woman held in the highest esteem by the entire community and greatly beloved by all who knew her. The funeral services were held at the Rev. Clyde McLean officiating and the interment took place at Shopshire.

WILL HAVE MEETING ON FRIDAY EVENING

Business Men of the City Will Meet to Discuss Advantages of Employing Permanent Secretary.

On Friday evening at seven thirty, all the business men of the city who are interested in the organization of a business men's association, whose purpose is to form a permanent organization and employ a paid secretary to place Jamesville, will hold a meeting at the city hall.

The subscription lists which have been liberally signed by business men and manufacturers generally indicate that the money needed to finance the plans projected, will be raised, the sum of $1000 having already been subscribed.

It is expected that at the meeting Friday plans for a permanent organization will be decided upon, officers elected and steps taken to place the association upon a firm financial basis. In no previous attempts at organizing the business men of the city for a similar purpose, has as much enthusiasm been shown or such a ready response to the subscription lists been made.

The plan outlined at a previous meeting last autumn was to raise funds for an organization which will employ a secretary whose duty it will be to boom Jamesville, watch out for the interests of the city as regards location of new industries and seek to secure a reduction of freight rates.

In other cities where similar organizations are found they have proved to be most successful and it is probable that the meeting on Friday evening will see a permanent organization perfected and the matter of employing a secretary decided upon.

NEARLY OVERCOME BY FUMES OF COAL

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Jones Had a Very Close Call at Home on South Main Street Sunday.

Back pressure resulting from abnormally heavy atmospheric conditions which prevailed Sunday evening caused a leakage of coal gas in many homes and was the occasion of much complaint. With a single exception, however, the phenomenon caused no severe discomfort. The exception was the household of Harry J. Jones, 229 South Main street. After Mr. and Mrs. Jones had retired that evening, the latter complained of a splitting headache. Mr. Jones got up and went downstairs after some headache tablets. On the ground floor he faintly and fell. When he did not return immediately Mrs. Jones arose and went below to investigate. She awakened her brother, Harry Shoemaker, who was sleeping in a rear room with the window open, and Dr. G. G. Childs was summoned to the scene.

Mr. Jones quickly revived when moved to the open air, but it was many hours before Mrs. Jones completely recovered from the effects. All had cause to be grateful to the open window in the rear room which probably saved the lives of the entire family circle. Most of the coal gas was forced back into the house through a chimney opening in the kitchen.

GIVE FAREWELL RECEPTION TO COLLEGE PROFESSORS

(Special to this Gazette.)

Beloit, Jan. 25.—A farewell reception and dinner was given at Chapin hall last night for Prof. James A. Blaisdell and Prof. R. K. Richardson of the college. Prof. Blaisdell goes to Pomona, Cal., to become president of Pomona college and Prof. Richardson goes on to Europe for six months for study. There were speeches by members of the faculty and Alex. E. Matheson of Jamesville. At the meeting the announcement was made of the gift to the college of $20,000 by Mrs. Francis Curtis of Chicago. The gift is the fulfillment of a pledge made by Mrs. Curtis, who after many years ago of $25,000, to found a chair of astronomy. She had $25,000 of the sum at the time and the balance is to fulfill her pledge of those long years ago.

The girls' annual entertainment was given last night in the opera-house and "The Girl Question" was the play. The theatre was crowded and the performance was enjoyed.

The case against Dr. Buckelridge, charged with failing to report to the health officer cases of scarlet fever, came up in the municipal court yesterday and was adjourned for a week because some of the witnesses are quarantined. Dr. Buckelridge will endeavor to show that he was justified in not reporting the cases because it was not clear that it was scarlet fever at the time he saw the cases.

Coal shortages continue to be the annoyance of customer and dealer.

Will Not Eat Meat.
One thousand men at the Fairbanks-Morse works have signed an oath not eating meat. The local butchers say, however, that there has been no perceptible loss of business.

The farmers of this community are watching the meat boycott with interest, for many are holding their hogs for still higher prices.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES GORDON

NEW SENATOR FROM MISSISSIPPI AND HIS WIFE.

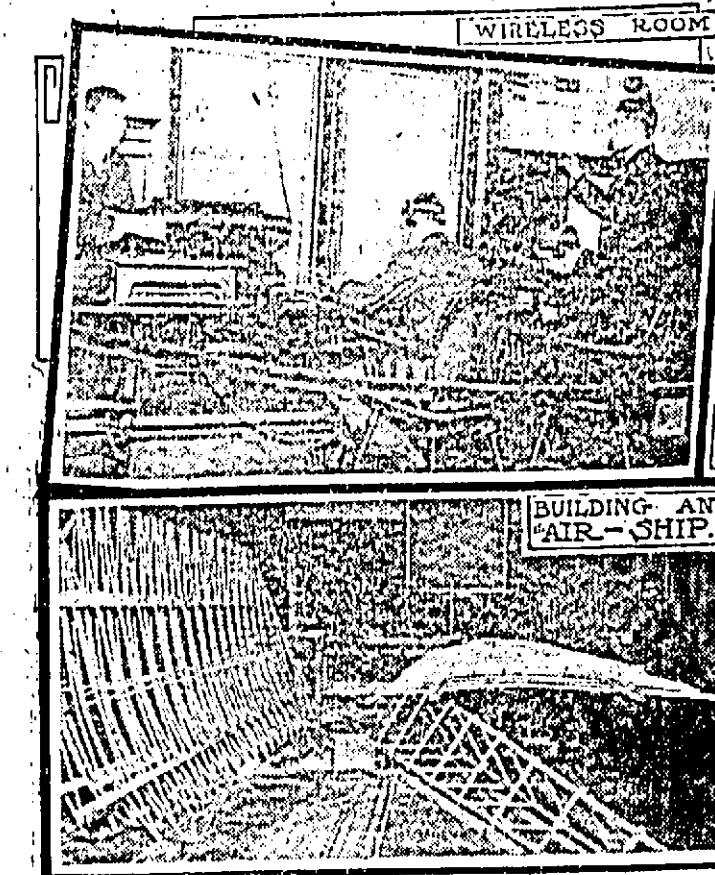

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Called States Senator James Gordon of Mississippi, who was recently appointed by the governor to succeed the late Senator McLaurens, is a most interesting man. He was called in Mississippi from his home in the south to take up the active grind in Washington. During recent years his life has been a quiet one and he has devoted much of his time to his literary works and especially his poetic efforts, which have been well received by the public in the south. He will, of course, only serve his state for the few months intervening before his successor, elected by the state legislature, takes office.

Mrs. James Gordon is a charming woman, typically southern in her hospitality. During the few weeks she has been in Washington she has made

WOMAN FIGHTS FOR DECREE—MRS. W. GOULD BROKAW SNAPPED COMING FROM THE COURTROOM

Modern College Education Includes was borrowed from Curtis, while other parts of the machine were patterned on the Antichrist plan, J. J.

Students at the University of Pennsylvania in their new wireless room are constructing an airship with which they are to challenge any student body in the world.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Colleges today are up-to-date. It tips any anything. Only a few years ago the airship was looked upon as a dream. Today college students in Pennsylvania as well as in Columbia are experimenting and it is not at all improbable that within the next two years an airship race between these two universities will be a feature, along with football, baseball and other sports.

In a few weeks the airship that the students of the University of Pennsylvania are building will be ready for launching. The students are making arrangements for the initial flight, and take place in "fairmount park," and after the event it all goes well, a challenge will be issued to the student world to meet in a flying contest as an innovation in college competitions.

The University of Pennsylvania aeroplane, which is being constructed in the basement of Houston hall, measures 35 feet from tip to tail and is 38 feet across the wings. The wings have been patterned after the Wright models; the steering gear idea

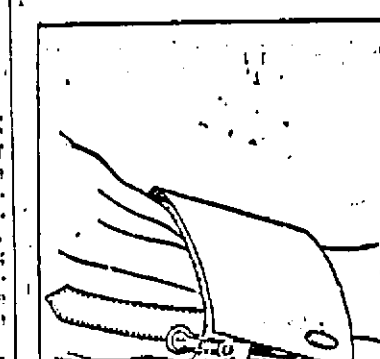

Leah of New York will be the official "skipper" of the craft. The aeroplane will permit two men to occupy the seat.

The University of Pennsylvania boys have just finished a wireless equipment and are now to communicate with Princeton college, where a "wireless" outfit is also installed. The athletic affairs of the two universities the arrangements for gloe club visits and the many items of information required for college programs in which the universities take part will now be settled by a talk over the wireless route.

HOLDER FOR CUFFS

Can Be Adjusted to Make Cuff Set At Any Place Desired.

The length of coat or shirt sleeve makes little difference in the set of a cuff, that is held in place by the holder invented by a California man. The holder is a metal plate with a slot in it just large enough for the shank of a sleeve button to pass through. At one end is an enlarged space to admit the head of the button and it is equipped with a suitable member, which can be adjusted at any point to engage the button and hold the whole affair firmly. The other end of the holder can be attached to the cuff proper. As will be readily understood, a cuff fastened to the shirt with this device may be adjusted to any point on the wrist, so that the length of the shirt sleeve is immaterial, and even a short cuff sleeve can be made to look just quite as short by keeping the cuff from protruding too far below it, and thus calling attention to the discrepancy.

Cold and La Grippe.

Mr. C. Happy, Harlan, Ray Co., Mo., writes: "I can safely recommend Peruna as a remedy that will cure all catarrhal troubles."

"It was of great benefit to me, as it cured me of catarrh of the throat, and I took a very bad cold and had la grippe last February. It settled in my throat and lungs. I took three bottles of Peruna and it cured me."

"I highly recommend it to all who are sick, and I am glad to add my endorsement to that of others."

Pe-ru-na for Colds.

Mr. L. Clifford Figg, Jr., 220 East Marshall St., Richmond, Va., writes that when he got a cold he takes Peruna, and it soon drives it out of his system. For several years he was not entirely well, but Peruna completely cured him. People who object to liquid medicine can now secure Peruna tablets.

INVENTOR OF THE ARDIS IRON FURNACE, WHICH HAS REVOLUTIONIZED THE IRON INDUSTRY.

Photograph posed especially for this paper by John T. Jones at his Iron Mountain home.

Iron Mountain, Mich.—John T. Jones of Iron Mountain, the inventor of the Ardis furnace, has developed a process for the treatment of iron ores, for which the world must rest his debt.

He has, in a word, made possible the treatment of low iron ores, which have hitherto been regarded as worthless. The importance of this discovery is made clear by the statement that, as the high grade iron ores of the country are being rapidly exhausted, Mr. Jones comes forward with a method of utilizing low grade ores, of which there are one thousand tons available for every ton of high grade ore.

Learn one may be worked in the Jones Ardis furnace to serve every industrial purpose to which steel may be applied, except the making of steel rails.

Those who have visited the Ardis furnace and the splendid plant which Mr. Jones has had in operation for several months in Iron Mountain have been thoroughly interested and deeply impressed with the success so far achieved, and feel like taking of their hats and making their obeisance to the man who has had the courage as well as the skill to work to a practical conclusion an experimental enterprise involving so great an expenditure of time and money.

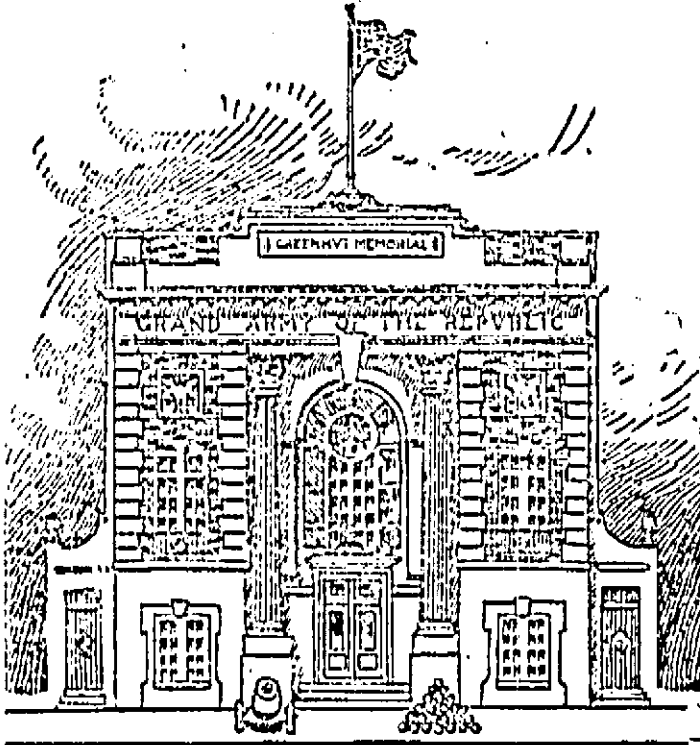

With the announcement in current press dispatches that capitalists have invested millions of dollars in low iron lands of Cook county, Minnesota, planning their faith on the success of John T. Jones, as demonstrated by the successful operation of his Ardis furnace and Iron Mountain steel plant, it may be confidently asserted that his endeavors have passed the experimental stage and that he has given to the world one of the greatest discoveries of modern times, and has achieved a victory, the echo of which, like the first gun fired at Fort Sumter, will be heard around the world.

The men who can take the waste and wasted things of this country, and utilize them, no matter how, so long as they are turned into something valuable and useful, are really the men who mightily move things, and surely Mr. Jones is one of them.

The name of John T. Jones, in connection with the Ardis furnace, has invited the attention of iron workers on his endeavors from almost the inception of his plans.

The iron world knows that John T. Jones is no dreamer. He is known to be an entirely practical man, he is thoroughly learned in every branch of the iron and steel industry.

It comes of a family of iron workers. His grandfather came to Pittsburgh with the secrets of the art of the iron workers as it is practiced in Wales. His son followed in his footsteps and as a master mechanic was recognized as a genius. Then came John T. Jones with an inherited talent for mechanical pursuits which soon placed him in charge of the machinery and furnaces of the Keel Ridge company at Sharon, Pa. In 1881 Mr. Jones came to the Menominee range where he has won fame and fortune as an operator of mines. The iron master of the Menominee range knows men and books as well as ore and mines. He is a man of broad culture and lofty aspirations and in the Ardis furnace he has created an economic factor which places the stamp of his genius on all time.

REMEMBERS HOME TOWN.

Beautiful G. A. R. Building Donated by Joseph B. Greenhut.

Peoria, Ill.—Joseph B. Greenhut of New York, president of Greenhut & Co. and Stogie, Cooper & Co., has presented to his home town, Peoria, Ill., a beautiful memorial in the shape of a building for the Grand Army of the Republic. The memorial was made possible to the town through Captain Greenhut's love for the old place and his patriotism, a sentiment that led him in his youth to give the best years of his young life in the defense of his country as a soldier.

Byron post, G. A. R., was nearer defeat in peace than it ever had been in war in its effort to get a building, when Mr. Greenhut, who lives in New York, came to the rescue with a large and substantial gift of money. The building was dedicated December 20, the whole town rejoicing, and a large proportion of its citizens attending the exercises.

"Captain Greenhut," as Peoria likes to refer to him, because of his military record, received a wonderful reception when he stepped forward upon the platform at the dedication in response to the request of the chairman of the meeting. The ovation lasted several minutes and was only stopped then by his signal that he wished to speak.

"As most of you probably know," he said, "I hold a warm spot in my heart for Peoria and its citizens, and especially for my old comrades in this city, who, like myself, when the nation was in danger, responded to the country's call and came forward ready to sacrifice our lives if necessary for the preservation of the Union. Somehow we withstood the dangers, and hardships of that long and dreadful war, and many carry scars of wounds as reminders of what was passed through."

A remarkable man in many ways is Joseph B. Greenhut, through whose munificence was erected this building, above the list of which his fellow soldiers' inscribed or inscribing the words "Greenhut Memorial." When, as an Austrian boy of blue years he came over seas into the new world to make his way he was imbued with the principles that Zerkow! portrays in the "Melting Pot."

He was a poor boy then, but of good blood and tremendous ambition. Today he is one of the nation's wealthy men—for which he has not forgotten to thank the country that fostered him—and today nothing delights him so much as to do something for the western country that mothered him when he was far from the Austrian place of his birth. His home was in Chicago until he was 16. His name was the second signed to the muster roll in Chicago in April 1861, after the firing on Sumter and the call for 75,000 volunteers. He was in many battles and won distinction. After Gettysburg Colonel Hecker was made brigadier and Captain Greenhut was made his adjutant and chief of staff.

U. S. STEEL EARNS $34,400,432.

Corporation Report for Fourth Quarter 1909 Is Issued.

New York, Jan. 26.—The net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended December 31 were $34,400,432. The surplus for the last quarter of 1909 was $16,263,399, and the total surplus for 1909 was $27,339,430. A report to this effect was made at the meeting of directors. After further appropriations for extra dividends on common stock and other purposes the surplus for the year is $15,327,101.

GIRL STRIKER HITS POLICEMAN.

Riot Is Started Among Philadelphia Striking Shirtwaist Makers.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26.—A six-foot policeman told a girl shirtwaist striker who was doing picket duty to "move on" and she surprised him by slapping him in the face. This started a disturbance and before it was over six girl strikers were on their way to a police station charged with creating disorder. Miss Mary McMurtre, a society woman, promptly furnished bail for two of the girls and the other four were discharged.

Too Much Firewater.

Cotton Crop Worth Much Money.

Last year's American cotton crop was valued at $683,000,000, and if the value of the seed be added, the aggregate revenue from the crop was very close up to $800,000,000. If the present prices for the staple hold, the value of this year's cotton crop including the seed will mount up very near to $1,000,000,000, at any rate to more than $900,000,000.—New York Commercial.

RECEIVERS FOR HOCKING COAL.

Move Is Only Made to Protect Assets—Concerns Solvent.

Columbus, O., Jan. 26.—Receivers were appointed by Federal Judge J. E. Sater late last night for the three companies comprising the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron group of interests.

A. L. Thurman of Columbus and William A. Harbour of New York, A. T. Seymour, and F. N. Shiks of Columbus were named as receivers.

In the applications it was represented to the court that the companies were threatened with suits and attachments; that if these were pressed, the assets would be dissipated and creditors would suffer.

To preserve the assets it was declared the receivers were necessary. No allegations of insolvency were made.

Attorneys stated that the troubles of the companies were brought about by the failure last week, following a sixty point drop in the stock in the New York market, of one of the creditors, Lathrop, Haskins & Co.

TORPEDO TRUST IS INDICTED.

Seven Companies Charged with Operating in Restraint of Trade.

Marlinton, O., Jan. 26.—The Washington county grand jury has indicted seven torpedo companies and two individuals identified with the same for operating a trust in restraint of trade. The companies operate in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Oklahoma. The Ohio attorney general will prosecute the cases.

BLACK HAND RULES ARE BARED.

Regulations of "Society of Banana" Prescribe Horrible Penalties.

Toledo, Jan. 26.—That there was an organization known as the Society of Banana, with rules and regulations prescribing horrible penalties for disobedience of its mandates was shown in the federal court during the "Black Hand" trial.

Most of the session was taken up with the reading of documentary evidence to the jury.

Included in the mass of documents were "Black Hand" letters to prospective victims, receipts for money extorted, letters, telegrams and other communications between the men who are now on trial.

Many of the letters demand various sums, ranging from $500 to $10,000, under penalty of death if the demand is not complied with.

Among the important documents admitted is a book found in Joe Lima's safe, Marion, in which are the rules and regulations of the "Society of the Banana," together with a list of the members for central Ohio. This list includes the names of all the defendants and a number of others.

OPEN CHERRY MINE NEXT WEEK.

State Inspectors Say 210 Bodies Will Soon Be Recovered.

La Salle, Ill., Jan. 26.—After an inspection by state mine inspectors it was announced that the St. Paul mine at Cherry will probably be opened on Monday to allow the recovery of the 210 bodies remaining in the underground levels as a result of the disastrous fire of last fall.

NAVY FIGHTS TOBACCO TRUST.

Makes Big Contract with Independent Concern for Its Supplies.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The navy department emphasized the fight of the government against the tobacco trust by making its purchase of plug tobacco from the Hooker Company of Lynchburg, Va., a concern not affiliated with the tobacco trust. The contract made by the navy department with the independent concern was for 30,000 pounds at 35½ cents per pound. All bids emanating from trust sources were ignored.

It was stated that, even if the trust, in order to make the point, had put in bids less than 35½ cents per pound, the government would not have dealt with it.

UNIONISTS CONTINUE TO GAIN.

Tories Win Enough to Keep Ministry Dependent on Allies.

London, Jan. 26.—Five hundred and sixty members of the new parliament have been elected. The announcement of Unionist gains continues with unbroken regularity.

The elections will continue throughout the week, but the chances of the Unionists obtaining a majority or of the Liberals securing enough seats to render them independent of the Laborites and Nationalists have now disappeared, and it becomes a most interesting question as to how the Liberal government is going to meet the difficult task before it.

NICARAGUAN ARMIES IN FIGHT.

Casualties Are Heavy on Both Sides in Short Battle.

Managua, Jan. 26.—Messages from Managua say that after an hour's fighting between the main bodies of the Madrid and Estrada armies at Acopyapa, the Madrid forces withdrew under the protection of machine gun fire. One gun operated by two Englishmen was captured.

Word has been sent to Gen. Chamorro to treat his prisoners with consideration and to avoid complications. The casualties in the fighting before the withdrawal of the Madrid forces were heavy on both sides as a result of the machine gun fire.

The engagement occurred half way between La Libertad and Acopyapa. It is believed here that Vasquez, chief of Madrid's staff, ordered the fight to test Estrada's strength. Vasquez has asked the Managua government for reinforcements.

Gen. Chamorro reports that the provisionals lost 400 killed and wounded. He believes that Vasquez's losses were greater. Several American aviators worked the insurgents' machine guns with deadly effect.

The action of Gen. Vasquez in withdrawing his forces and asking for reinforcements will not delay the main battle long.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES INDIGESTION, GAS ON STOMACH AND HEARTBURN

Take a little Diapepsin now and your Stomach will feel fine in five minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach—five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent box of Peap's Diapepsin and take

There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Peap's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent boxes contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, or any other Stomach trouble.

This is the Flag Peary Nailed to the Pole

The most significant trophy of modern times. It has waved at the apex of the earth, where a day and a night are a year, and every direction is south. No battle flag was ever planted in the enemy's stronghold after struggles as severe as those which carried this banner to the goal. It is the Star Spangled symbol of courage and endurance and faith beyond comparison. It is the emblem of man's conquest over every obstacle, the triumph of spirit over matter.

What Has Become of Our Pure Food Law?—Samuel Hopkins Adams says it is a dead letter and for every housewife to beware of a market flooded with benzoate of soda. He riddles the report of the famous Remsen Commission appointed by Roosevelt and details the activities of Secretary of Agriculture.

Admiral Evans Demands a Free Panama Canal.—In the second installment of his sensational series "Fighting Bob" demonstrates why we must make the Canal free to all the world.

Strong Brilliant Fiction—Another of the famous Luther Trent Psychological Detective Stories—the newest idea in detective fiction—unravelling the mysteries of crime with applied psychology. "The Consuming Flame," a great tragic love-story of sea-faring written by that master narrator of sea stories, James B. Connolly, whom Roosevelt chose to be the Kipling of our Navy. "Var Populi Var Deo," by Caspar Day, is a humor story of great charm and ingenuity. "Opportunity," by Helen Brooks, is a terse, sardonic tale of a man who did not make good. Other stories by Clara Morris, Honor Willis, Sarah Josephine Bayless.

Interests and the local press are interested. The local merchants should put their shoulders to the wheel and help by sustaining the local press. This is sensible advice and worthy of thoughtful consideration. Persistent publicity is the only way to meet mail order competition. The catalog is as sacred as the Bible in many homes and studied much more diligently, but the family newspaper is also a part of the household equipment and read just as religiously. If its columns contain attractive announcements of local merchants, with prices attached, not occasionally, but all the time, results are sure to follow.

ACCOMPLISHED ITS PURPOSE

(Des Moines Register and Leader.)

"When Senator Cummins smilingly assured the senate that if he should live to be as old as Methuselah, and should in his last year come back to the senate, he would find the income tax amendment still awaiting ratification, there were some who professed to believe that he was mistaken."

"Probably nobody today doubts that he was right. To illustrate the situation, statements made by Senator Edith Toot at the time and recently are instructive. In the senate debate he said:

"I shall vote for the income tax amendment and I shall advocate it in my state; and I hope it will pass both houses of congress by a two-thirds vote and be adopted by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states."

"In a recent interview he says:

"I do not care to discuss the question of an income tax."

"Upon being further urged he repeated: 'I will not comment on the matter.'"

"It would hardly be worth while to say that there never was any intention to have the income tax amendment ratified. For there were many men in congress honest in submitting it to the states. But it is worth pointing out that in its inception the scheme to amend the constitution was merely a backfire against direct legislation to tax incomes which at the time threatened to be enacted."

It is just as well that the errand senator from Iowa should be disappointed. There is no call for an income tax and no justice in it.

The corporation tax is bad enough and thousands of small concerns, all over the country, which do a small volume of business compared to many partnership houses, are now laboring to comply with a senseless law, simply because they happen to be incorporated.

Property and not ability should pay the taxes. The equal distribution of property is a business theory, but it is socialism, pure and simple, and the American people can afford to let it alone.

EVIDENCE WANTED

Almost anyone with a good pair of lungs and a little oratory can incite a mob, and the cry of "Stop thief" never fails to capture a street crowd. The public mind just now is very much agitated over high prices and the cost of living, and the more people think about the question and the more they discuss it the more they are surprised that they are able to exist at all during this era of unexampled prosperity.

Of course something or somebody is responsible, and where so many interests are involved it was a delicate proposition to locate this responsibility until the government offered relief by suggesting the meat trust. Then it was easy to rally to a single standard and the anti-trust trust sprung into full-fledged existence like a mushroom in the night.

The protest of the packers is of no avail and when they state that the price of carcass beef is only 50 cents per hundred higher than it was a year ago they ask for proof, not satisfied with the daily market reports. People are a good deal like sheep when they get started. The Milwaukee Sentinel publishes the following sensible editorial on evidence wanted:

"The proposal of the new Anti-Trust league to boycott meat suggests some practical reflections.

"The name of this association implies its belief that the meat prices it proposes to wage war on are artificial and the result of extortionate operations by a trust.

"Since such is its conviction, it should have evidence on which to found it. If such be the case, it is evidently choosing an inferior and legally dubious road to amelioration or punishment of the trust.

"The proper and honorable course for the Anti-Trust league to pursue (assuming that it is proceeding on evidence and not lighting a speer of its own imagination) would have been to invoke the anti-trust law and submit its evidence to the government. It sees how ready the government has been to act for the public.

"The prospect now is that the question of trust or no trust is going to be decided in court. We shall see how much, if any, truth there is in the popular theory that a packers' trust has been keeping prices down at one end of its business (to the detriment of the stock raisers) and up at the other end (to the detriment of the consumers).

"The inexplicable thing about this whole economic situation is that the extraordinary high prices of meat on the block have not so stimulated production on the farm and the range as to reduce prices automatically, by the law of supply and demand.

"What have independent stockmen and farmers to say about that? Their testimony would be peculiarly pertinent to the solution of the trust or no trust question. Since dressed meat prices have long been so high, why are they not availing themselves of the opportunity and raising more stock? Have they any complaint to the effect that a trust is holding them down and 'hogging' all the profit?

"Meanwhile, it strikes us that this Anti-Trust league, which proposes a boycott to smother the trust, should produce its evidence that there is a trust. Any ignorance can yell trust, and call on the crowd to smash the butcher's windows. But that is not the way to proceed. Let this Anti-Trust league turn over its proofs to the government (if it has any worth mentioning), and Mr. Wickersham will do the rest."

The cities of Illinois will have the privilege of adopting the commission form of government, as the bill now pending is likely to become a law. Indiana is planning a similar campaign, and a delegation from that state is now in Des Moines, Iowa, on a tour of investigation. The objections to the Wisconsin law should get together on some measure that they are willing to support.

Judge Landis of Standard Oil fame is again to the fore, and unless something prevents the Chicago packers, known as the "big six," will all be on the way to Joliet before the attorney general knows what has happened. The Chicago judge believes in a prompt and vigorous service, and Attorney General Wickersham will be obliged to stop lively to keep up with the procession.

The New Jersey House for Girls advertised for an official speaker and received 500 applications. One applicant says she weighs 180 pounds, and will be ready for the job as soon as she gets a divorce from her husband. She claims she has had experience and her better half is willing to swear to it.

The floods in France, as the result of long continued rains, amount, to a deluge, and one-fourth of the territory is under water. Loss of property and much suffering has resulted, and the aftermath may mean pestilence.

The primary law received another bump in the Illinois legislature yesterday, and the measure likely to be passed will be harmless.

Seattle, Wash.—With the return of Herbert E. Law from New York comes the first authentic news that has been received of the great merger that will combine some of the most valuable coal and iron property on the Pacific coast. A company to be known as the eastern steel corporation will begin in March of this year, to make the first steel ever manufactured on the coast.

The plant now ready for active work is located on Puget sound at Bonadilla, within four miles of Port Townsend, and several local capitalists are interested in the $25,000,000 corporation, as well as many millionaires in Washington, Canada and the eastern states.

At present the Pacific coast states pay $18,000,000 annually to the railroads for freightage steel from the east and use 1,200,000 tons of steel each year. By January 1, 1912, the steel works will be producing 500,000 tons of steel a day. This would yield an annual revenue of $5,500,000.

"By the end of March," Law said yesterday, "the corporation's plant will be producing 125 tons of steel daily, and, as the works are to be increased rapidly the output will grow until the maximum quantity of finished steel is being produced in 1912."

Officers of the great corporation have been announced as follows: James A. Moore, president, Seattle; Herbert E. Law, first vice president, San Francisco; Jacob F. Diller, second vice president, Seattle; Robert Diller, third vice president, Seattle; M. J. John Schram, treasurer, Seattle; M. J. Lyter, secretary, Seattle; directors, James A. Moore, Herbert E. Law, Arnold J. B. Chubb, Alexander Henderson, Samuel A. Perkins, G. Henry Whitcomb, John C. Eden, E. J. Jambon, N. W. Jordan, W. H. Armstrong, Sylvester G. Paulkner, Robert Kelly, R. P. McLennan.

It is probable that the Union iron works of San Francisco and the Moran Shipbuilding company of Seattle will be taken into the corporation within a short time.

The assets of the Western steel corporation are estimated to be worth $12,500,000, and include iron deposits, estimated to be worth $10,000,000, and 2,000 acres of land situated in Snohomish county, Wash., and on Vancouver Island, British Columbia. The Canadian property has been developed sufficiently to show 10,000,000 tons of high grade bog iron in sight.

The coal properties are on Graham Island, one of the Queen Charlotte group, and at Ashford, in Pierce county, Wash. Professor Ellis, official geologist of the Canadian government, estimated the Graham beds to contain 100,000,000 tons of fine coal. The Ashford bed contains 50,000,000 tons of coal.

That was temptation No. 2. This was the situation: Robeson is twenty-two years old and has a wife and baby. That $100 a month lifetime job looked good to him. It was more money than he was getting. He might lose his job.

That was one side of the problem. He and his wife talked it over. He wanted to get up in the world all right, but he wanted to get up on merit, by his own efforts, which is the real heart of every honest, earnest man's desire. Robeson refused the job.

Was he wise? In justice to himself and his family was it right to refuse? Yes! Back of him were four years of honest service for his company. He was in the line of promotion. He would try for the bigger stake.

In that choice Billy Robeson again showed the stuff of which he is made. He holds the triple guarantee of success. He is honest, energetic, ambitious.

Some day he will be division superintendent or maybe traffic manager and then—superintendent or president of the road. Just as sure as he lives he will succeed.

He has already succeeded! This is not a Sunday school book story, but a leaf out of the real life of a real man.

Since Billy Robeson faced and conquered his two temptations he has been promoted to be conductor.

HAWAIIAN REPRESENTATIVE A MAN OF ROYAL BLOOD—PRINCE JONAH KALANIALAOLE OF HAWAII.

Washington, D. C.—The present delegate from Hawaii

Keep Young Looking

The loss of a tooth gives one a haggard, worn and neglected appearance. It's marvellous what an improvement I can make in one's good looks by fitting in a bridge tooth.

Attaching it to an adjoining natural tooth.

STRONG and PERMANENT.

Don't we grow old fast enough anyway without actually adding in the matter by neglecting our teeth? I do this work for $5.00, and I never yet have had a patient who regretted the investment. The little money it cost was paltry in view of the improvement in looks and utility. Talk with me. I'm the Patient man.

CONTRACT PRACTICE MATTER NOT SETTLED

Rock County Physicians Took No Action Concerning Practice at Meeting Last Night.

Rock county physicians met in Beloit last evening at the monthly gathering of the Rock County Medical Association. The matter of making an amendment to the constitution of the society forbidding the members from accepting contract practice was brought up but no action on it was taken as the committee in charge of drawing up the amendment had not yet drafted a resolution that was satisfactory and the matter was laid over to the next meeting which will be held in this city in February. A general discussion of the subject was held, January 25, and Beloit doctors participating and all those present favoring the plan of abandoning the practice so that when the question comes before the physicians at their next session it will be undoubtedly go through without any discussion. If the amendment is passed, and it undoubtedly will be, it will mean that the members of the Rock County society will no longer contract with lodges, societies, or city, county or state governments for their services under a contract received for their work a salary fixed at so much per month or year, but will charge rather for the services performed. Janesville physicians who participated in the discussion last evening were: Drs. M. A. Cunningham, C. H. Sutherland, E. E. VanDusen, T. W. Nuzum, and G. E. VanDusen. Beloit physicians who spoke were: Drs. Connel, Bennett, Berger and Delaney.

FOUR ARRESTS MADE FOR DRUNKENNESS LAST NIGHT

Three Prisoners Went To Jail While the Fourth Was Sent Back To the County House. Huber Biggar, who has been arrested numerous times for drunkenness, appeared in municipal court this morning on the same old charge but drew a bigger sentence than usual—four days in jail, a fine of $5 and costs or in default of the money, four additional days. He had no money and went to jail. Harry Weeks and Fred Boldt, arrested while intoxicated, were fined $2 and costs with an alternative of five days in the House. They accompanied Biggar.

Henry Hoch, a patient at the county farm, was arrested last night by Officer Dorn before he had a chance to see all the sights or get his celebration under full sail. He saw enough and drank enough, however, to warrant his arrest and was given a chance to sober up before being sent back to the farm.

JANESVILLE BANKS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY RULE

Janesville banks will not be affected by the report of State Treasurer Dail to the board of deposits as to the number of banks holding state deposits, part of whose bondsmen are dead. But one bank has this money and the bondsmen of that the Rock County National bank are all living. Under a law passed by the last legislature, bonds of all banks shall be renewed every four years unless the state board of deposits shall take action to extend the bond. The state professes that all bondsmen should be living. Lost Man Located: John Rothlaw, formerly employed as a butler at the Shurtliff factory, was reported to have disappeared in a mysterious manner about six weeks ago, leaving his trunk and other chattels at his boarding place, 331 South Main street. WANTED IN SAN FRANCISCO.
"Big Jim" Gallagher.

San Francisco.—District Attorney Charles M. Fickert is not on the trail of "Big Jim" Gallagher. This week Judge Lawrence issued a bench warrant for his arrest.

The district attorney said that his only who was to produce Gallagher as a witness in the case of the people against Patrick Calhoun, which is pending in Judge Lawrence's court. It is the view of the lawyers of the graft prosecution, however, that Fickert proposes to land Gallagher so that he may be prosecuted on a criminal charge, in the face of the immunity contract which "Big Jim" received from District Attorney Langdon and Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney in consideration of Gallagher's testimony before the grand jury and at the trials of Abraham Ruef, former Mayor Schmitz, Calhoun, T. L. Ford, Louis Glass and others.

District Attorney Fickert asserted yesterday that he had no news as to the whereabouts of Gallagher, who disappeared two months ago. He added that he was determined to find the absent witness if possible and would bring him back to this city.

"Gallagher is the kingpin in these cases," said Fickert yesterday, "and this office will make every effort to find him. We are searching for him now, but I am not prepared to say what steps we have taken to locate him, nor what chance there is that he can be found."

"I have not looked sufficiently deep into the law to be able to say now whether or not we can extradite him if he is outside the state. If he is in a foreign country much would depend upon the particular place in which he would be, as extradition treaties vary."

James L. Gallagher was the chief agent of Abraham Ruef in distributing bribe money received by Ruef among the members of the board of supervisors during the notorious Schmitz-Ruef regime, which lasted from January, 1906, until November of that year, when the graft prosecution was launched and successfully broke up the ring.

None appreciated the importance of Gallagher's testimony more acutely than did those who tried to put him out of the way. The most atrocious crimes in the entire category of corruption were directed against Gallagher. A diabolical attempt was made to kill him in Oakland by an explosion of dynamite. Pete Chaudrona has been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the outrage.

In November Gallagher quietly slipped out of town. When District Attorney Langdon learned of the flight of his chief witness he made every effort to capture him, but it was too late. Without Gallagher as a witness the cases against Patrick Calhoun for bribing supervisors in the interest of the United railroads will fall flat, and District Attorney Fickert will be unable to prosecute the president of the United railroads.

MONSTER 14-INCH GUN.

Washington, D. C.—At the navy yards this week was completed another of those engines of war known as the 14-inch gun. The immense amount of time and labor involved in the construction of one of Uncle Sam's fighting machines is not appreciated outside of those intimate with the details. The gun here pictured took one year to complete. It will shoot a projectile weighing 1,400 pounds with a velocity of 3,600 feet-second. It has a muzzle energy of 65,000 foot-tons. This gun is intended for one of the new Dreadnoughts which the United States navy department is constructing.

Probably every citizen doesn't realize that if they buy "Janesville made goods" they are helping hundreds to employment, that they are helping small manufacturers to be larger manufacturers, and the big manufacturers to be bigger still. That our grocers, our butchers, our merchants, all are dependent upon the patronage of those men and their families to keep up their establishments, who in turn have hundreds of employees who depend upon them for salaries. The entire mercantile world is so intermingled that it's hard to know where to draw the line. One thing is certain: Janesville makes good goods. Let us all insist on Janesville Made Goods. WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Of all the unutilized customs of this supposedly civilized country, funeral services, such as we now have, seem to me the very worst.

I hope I shall live to see the day when such services are as much things of the past as the funeral wreaths of wax or hair that used to hang on our grandmother's walls, are today.

Please do not be so hidebound by what has always been, that you absolutely refuse to think of this as a possibility, or even a sane suggestion.

Please try to look at it unprejudicially.

Does a funeral service accomplish any good purpose whatsoever?

It harrows feelings already harrowed beyond endurance.

How very often after one of those horrible ordeals you hear something like this:

"Yes, she got through the funeral better than anyone expected. We really didn't think she would be able to stand it," or "You know his wife is quite ill herself. She collapsed entirely at the funeral. Too much for the poor woman."

It imposes on many people who dread the morbid atmosphere, and who for rather honor their friends in some sane, healthier way, the necessity of attending the gathering or being considered lacking in respect.

"Do you think I ought to go to Mr. L's funeral?"

"Yes; if you don't the family will think it's awfully queer."

Did you ever say or hear the prototype of that in your own home? I'll answer for you. Of course you have, if it's an average home.

Don't say in defense of the ceremonial that it honors the dead.

Do you really think that if any one of the dead you are pretending to honor could be present at his own funeral he would be pleased to hear the minister's probably stilted and unmeaning eulogy of himself?

I do not believe it.

And if we must have a funeral service at all I wish that feature of them could be abolished. If there is to be an eulogy at all why not have it delivered by a minister of the family or some friend who knew the man intimately instead of by a minister who knew him merely as he knows some hundreds of people?

One of the most beautiful things in "The Last of the Mohicans" is the account of the burial of the Indian boy, Uncas. Instead of any set speech, all the young men who knew him stood up and told of some virtue he possessed or some kind deed he did.

If we must have funerals why not something like that?

But must we? Why is not the simple, solemn, commitment service ceremonial enough?

This is what a certain philosopher says on the subject, and I echo it with all my heart:

"When I die, please dispose of my shell quickly and unostentatiously. Please tell my friends to wear red, white and blue, to feast, sing, dance and make merry. They may not FEEL like it, but if they want to please ME, tell them to obey MY wishes. There is no use crying over spilt milk, nor in making things more gloomy, when things are already gloomy enough. I want no funeral, no mourning garments, no elaborate coffin, no procession, no weeping. If any love me, let them be glad, not sad; because, if they come to my own happiness better than their own, they should realize that my soul must have gone to a higher and better plane, where it would not be content if it knew that my friends on earth were weeping because of my promotion."

Ruth Cameron

The new styles of coiffure are simple in appearance, but should be executed with care, as any attempt at exaggeration destroys the simplicity and the appearance of neatness now desirable. The front locks may be worn as soft and loose as is becoming but all other loose strands should be well taken care of and any style of decoration for evening wear should be so disposed as not to spoil the shape of the head, which is happily revealed in the new coiffure. The elderly woman now appears with her hair as carefully dressed as the young matron. A simple and beautiful arrangement for white hair is shown above, where the hair is parted and drawn back loosely into a soft coil at the back of the head.

THEORIES AND WOMEN.

By MARY RUSSELL.

There still seems to be an unquenchable feeling in the matter of Mrs. Josephine Dodge Bacon's recent brilliant attack on the woman who does a career.

There is a career, spelled with a capital C, to her heaven—entirely independent of raising children. As Mrs. Dodge B. Bacon has not only enjoyed a career, and at the same time built up a considerable income out of it, she does not by any means realize the grip of the wily bird of success, but retains a firm grasp of the tail feathers, even as she declares the circumstances, and with a lofty wave of the hand—or should I say pen—relegates all such aspirations to the limbo of the outer darkness. In dwell only those who, men, have a right to create of the tail feathers, even as she declares the circumstances, and with a lofty wave of the hand—or should I say pen—relegates all such aspirations to the limbo of the outer darkness. In dwell only those who, men, have a right to create careful people that makes it impossible for them to slow more than one side of a question. I do not think that Judge O'Drady and the colonel's lady are all the same under the skin. I think there is a difference in fiber and feeling, but the woman who is forced by circumstances to leave her home and little ones and scrib, so as to provide them with their daily bread, and the woman who goes every day to a warm and comfortable office, and there dictates to a stenographer the brilliant sentences that will provide her helpless little ones with the education and home and luxuries that she feels are indispensable to her—those two women are near of kin. The great difference lies in the fact that sometimes call it inspiration, gives the one woman on to creative work, and will not let her stop even when the necessity is no more—and that in the other case the washwoman is only too glad to take shelter behind the labor of her man whenever she can do so.

The instinctive desire for shelter and comfort is in every woman and Mrs. Bacon has not struck out any new idea. She has only had the good fortune to strike on a very good advertising scheme, and as she now intends to instruct the rest of woman-kind, a waiting world will have an opportunity to pay dollars for that fine idea of hers. The suffragists are hammering out the same idea every day. Equal rights means a right for a woman to a home, with a right to shelter in that home. But Mrs. Bacon has not progressed that far.

In Grey and Green.

A picturesque but unaccompanied description—a hat which would require charm of face and distinction to properly display its beauties, but, combined with these, leaves nothing to be desired. The shape was of gray velvet, rather a pale shade of gray, while the puffing of gray velvet which encircles it borders closely on back in its deeper shades. The present craving for the bizarre is evidenced by the gray albatross on the left side. This was of gun metal, studded with green stones. This color effect was strikingly beautiful.

What game bird?

THERE'S NO RISK

If This Medicine Does Not Benefit You Pay Nothing

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are something and of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost instantaneous. Their use with persistence and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store. The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

Takes a Dive in His Sleep.

A Liverpool man who had read Rider Haggard's "Allan Quatermain" last before going to bed the other night, had such a vivid dream that he was diving from a rock—an incident that figures in the story—that he took a header from the bed to the floor, a deed that nearly resulted in his death from concussion of the brain.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called vine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains. It assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientifically trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 75c a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and Elgin, Wis. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

MARVEL FLOUR

Is made and always has been made from the highest grade hard wheat, the most perfect grown. It is not bleached, and never has been and our mill does not have to be compelled to alter its method of flour production to comply with the law. Why bake your bread from a flour which the Government says is made in violation of its Pure Food Laws? Why wait to secure a pure and perfect flour made from a high grade wheat, milled after the most sanitary and health giving mode of natural milling? If you bake your own bread, cake or pastry demand of your grocer Marvel Flour. If he cannot supply you send us his name and we'll see that he does. If you use bakers' bread be sure and know that it is made from unbleached flour. Ask for bread baked and made from Marvel Flour. It costs no more and is absolutely pure—of this you may be certain.

How She Escaped.
Pauline, who had been attending school for almost two weeks, was talking of the misbehavior of some of her little classmates. At her mother's question as to whether it had ever been necessary for the teacher to speak to her, Pauline answered, quickly, "Oh, no, mamma." Then, "She had to speak to all the class but me this afternoon." "Why, what did she say?" "Oh, she said, 'Now, children, we'll all wait until Pauline is in order.'—The Deliverator.

Cecil Rhodes always did things on a big scale. PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF THE SCOTTISH BARD

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY HONORS ANNIVERSARY OF BURNS' BIRTH.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN

Program Was Varied and Pleasing to Large Audience Present—Dancing Followed Program.

Persons of Scottish birth or descent and admirers of the great Scotchman, Burns, numbering nearly seven hundred people in all, gathered last evening at the Caledonian society to celebrate the one hundred and fifty-first anniversary of the birth of the bard.

The entertainment last evening was decidedly the best ever given under the auspices of the Caledonian society.

A varied program was presented and from start to finish it was a most delightful affair.

The opening number on the program was an overture, "Bonnie Scotland," played by the Kneff and Hatch orchestra.

Dr. James Mills, president of the society, delivered the president's address, a study of welcome, speaking of the pleasure of gathering that they might do honor to the memory of the great poet of Scotland's song, and to the joy of a few hours at least the pleasure and pastime of the Auld Lang Syne.

He added that it was an additional pleasure in celebrating at this time the twenty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the society as well as the birth of Burns.

Following the president's address, Mr. Ritchie, a magnificent, amused the audience with some very clever tricks in magic. Carried in the (Gaelic costume, W. B. Hunter sang "The Wedding of Sandy McNab."

In a manner that greatly pleased all of his auditors.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Deaton of the Congregational church on the subject of the evening's celebration, "Burns."

Dr. Deaton extolled the Scottish bard highly, telling of the popularity of his songs and verses and how they were enjoyed not alone by those of Scottish birth and ancestry, but to all people.

He stated that the writings of Burns were a delight to all nationalities; that "every year's birthday as well by the man of humble birth as by the man of greater position."

The speaker said that what Kipling has spoken of in the present day was dealt with by Burns over one hundred years ago.

Another Scotch dialect song, "She Is My Daisy," by Mr. W. B. Hunter, was quite as delightful as the first number given by him, "Familiar Questions," which touched a popular chord with his audience.

Mrs. Ritchie rendered a very pleasing baritone solo, and Miss Agnes Rod's impersonations of actors from those on the vaudeville circuit, to the grand opera, scored a hit and she was applauded.

Miss Emma Shoemaker gave an excellent reading and Mr. Ritchie again amused the audience with some cleverly produced shadowgraphs. Miss Shoemaker gave another short piece, and the program was closed by the audience, led by Mr. Hunter, singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The floor of the hall was cleared and made ready for the dancers. The dance program was a very enjoyable one, arranged to please all of the one hundred and fifty couples who glided about on the floor. Round dances interspersed with quadrilles and other square dances made up the card, and Kneff and Hatch's orchestra furnished the music. The dancing lasted until after two o'clock.

Among the audience who attended the celebration last evening were four ladies who attended the one hundredth anniversary celebration, held fifty-one years ago in Lappin's hall, where the Hayes block now stands.

The ladies are Mrs. Andrew Barless, Mrs. David Clark, Mrs. West, and Mrs. Charles White.

Prof. Frost of Yerkes observatory, Williams Bay, Lake Geneva, does not hazard any predictions as to the course of the new nocturnal visitor and is unable to say how long it will be visible, but he thinks that there will be at least two or three days during which it may be seen by the naked eye.

The comet's tail is four degrees in length, while the sun appears about half a degree in diameter, which makes the apparent width of the tail about eight times the apparent width of the sun. It is of a bright yellow color and the tail seems brighter than the head.

There have been a great many other comets visible to the naked eye, but this one is said to be better situated for popular observation than any that has appeared in generations.

MANY PRESENT AT WINSTON FUNERAL

Which Was Held at Evansville Yesterday—William Halstead's Team Went to Run Over Him.

Evansville, Jan. 19.—The funeral of Mrs. Ellen A. Winston was held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. A large concourse of friends gathered at the home to pay tribute to the memory of one they loved so dearly.

The pastor, Rev. D. Q. Grabbie, gave a message of comfort. R. D. Hartley sang "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me," and Miss Fanny Powers sang "One Sweetly by Solomons' Temple" and the two with Mrs. Charles Copeland sang "Rock of Ages." The bearers were: Arthur Alter, John Baker, E. J. Ballard, George Pullen, Andrew Manning, and W. J. Clark; and the remains were tenderly laid to rest beside those of her husband in Maple Hill cemetery.

Those from out of town who were here to attend the services were: Mrs. Helen Winston, Mr. and Mrs. George Butler, Mrs. Hotchkiss, Arthur Alter and Mrs. Barker of Janesville; Andrew and Parsons, Oregon; John Alter and daughter, George; John Baker, Mrs. Charles Winston, Newark, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stewart, Hudson, Wis.; Miss Anna Smith, Madison; Mrs. Rena Porter, Beloit; Ralph Marquette, Milton; Charles Bridges, Calumet, and Theodore Rye, Avon.

Frank Hynes underwent an operation for rupture in the private hospital of Dr. C. M. Smith today. At this writing he is still under the influence of the anesthetic but the doctors are very hopeful.

A span of horses owned by William Halstead was very badly injured this morning. Mr. Halstead was using the team in filling his greenhouse and when he drove onto the pond they went through an air-hole and were severely hurt before they could be rescued.

A team and a large force of men were required to get them out of the water and ice.

The managers of the Jones cheese factory held a meeting this morning, at which time they contracted their milk for the coming year to Charles Zuercher of Brookfield. They are to receive one dollar and a quarter per hundred weight for six months beginning May 1st and one dollar and forty cents for the month of November.

Miss Mada Stevens will teach the remainder of the week for Miss Josie Kelley, who was called to Orfordville to attend the funeral of a friend.

John Scheible left this morning for Chicago, where he will take an eight weeks' course at the Barnes College of Embalming.

The embroidery club met last evening with Miss Blanche Jenkins.

Webster Johnson is here from Mt. Horeb today to visit his mother, who is very sick.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Laura Kilmer United in Marriage to Victor P. Enright.

Last evening at eight o'clock at St. Mary's paragon Rev. Fr. G. St. performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Victor Patrick Enright and Miss Laura Jane Kilmer, both of this city.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kilmer, was given in blue muslin and attended by her cousin, Miss Josie McCrea, John Ward was groomsmen.

Mr. Enright is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick T. Enright and one of Janesville's brightest and most promising young men.

At present he holds the position of assistant superintendent of the Hanson growth company. His bride has grown to womanhood in this city and is a most estimable young woman.

Following the ceremony a report was served at the home of the groom's parents at 514 North Bluff street, only the bride party and immediate relatives being present.

The happy couple will begin housekeeping in a beautifully furnished home at 417 South Hickory street and will carry with them the best wishes of scores of friends.

MARSHAL BECOMES
CHIEF OF POLICE
Edgerton Will Have Chief of Police After July 1—Firemen's Ball This Evening.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Edgerton, Wis., Jan. 19.—After July 1 there will be no city marshal in Edgerton. Instead the head of the Edgerton blue-coated squad will be known as the Chief of Police. This change in title is due to the fact that Edgerton has become a fourth-class city. In addition, a board of police and fire commissioners consisting of five members will be appointed by the mayor.

What promises to be the first ball ever given under the auspices of the Edgerton Fire Department will be held this evening in Assembly Hall. The ball this evening will be the twenty-fifth annual event given by the Fire Laddies and promises to be a record-breaker. The Kneff & Hatch band orchestra of Janesville has been engaged to play for the dancers and will also give a concert from 8:30 to 9:30. Members of the department in full uniform will act as a reception committee.

Two committees are working hard to have every detail in readiness for the ball. The dance committee consists of W. L. Hansen, H. F. Pringle and L. W. Hutson while those in charge of the floor are George Gaden, A. H. Jensen, Frank Ash and Frank Brown.

START MOVEMENT FOR MORE SANITARIUMS

Anti-Tuberculosis Association Seeking More Hospitals for Advanced Consumption Cases.

A statewide movement for the establishment of sanitariums for advanced and incurable cases of consumption has been started by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association and many cities in the state are taking it up and pushing it earnestly.

The need of hospitals for such persons is urgent as the state sanitarium at Wales is for very early cases only. Even if this institution were not already filled, it would wrong and would do great harm to admit the recovery of cases there who are but afflicted with the plague in its early stages.

The cure of an early case is largely a financial problem, concerning the family infinitely more than it does the state. The advanced case is a social problem, because the general public, because one consumptive in advanced stages spreads the disease to many innocent victims than a whole army of infectives.

The association is seeking the aid of every legislative body, from state legislature, county board, city council, to village and township boards.

A number of cities have already started definite work. Kenosha has already accumulated some funds for the purpose of building a hospital for advanced and incurable cases. La Crosse is doing likewise. At Madison plans are well under way for a hospital. At Racine an attempt is being made to have the isolation hospital for smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., opened for the admission and treatment of cases of advanced tuberculosis. The hospital at present is without patients for the greater part of the year and as consumption is as much of a communicable disease as smallpox and others, the hospital may as well be devoted for the benefit of consumptives. In fact, the need is just as urgent.

Judge Levi H. Hameroff, member of the assembly, is a leading speaker of the Wisconsin Center Anti-Tuberculosis society, a branch of the state association, and is devoting his best efforts to the movement.

STORMS OF '81 ARE RECALLED TO MIND
Many Old Residents Remember the Terrible Winter and the Big Drifts.

Older residents of the city will well remember the storm of 1881, which to some they have often compared to the one which has this winter blanketed roads and railroads. And perhaps some of those who were here then could tell you exceedingly interesting and marvelous stories of how the snow seemed to fall from the heavens like a soft white blanket, covering the barren places and leaving things in general; how a person would awake in the morning to find that during the night a barricade of snow had been placed against his door, perhaps as high as the eaves on one-story buildings. Access to the street was secured by tunneling and trenching and the roadways and the fences were indistinguishable from the rest of the landscape.

The wind took the falling flakes and whirling and swirling them created fantastic shapes, such as had never before been viewed by the eyes of man, about buildings and other structures, and the whole country was for a time veiled in almost as securely by the white element as the palace of the sleeping beauty by the hedge of thorns. Snowing was a never-say, though not the popular word, and then as now the people were hardly cleared before another snowstorm filled them full again.

The snowstorms of 1881 occurred in the spring of the year, during the month of April. There had been good sleighing throughout the winter and the packed snow provided a good foundation upon which the later storms lashed. The weather was not particularly bright, but it was as though a section of the Dakota or the Western prairie had been transported to Wisconsin, bringing with it the snowstorms and blizzards which characterize those sections.

The aftermath to this great storm was a flooding of the city, when people whose houses were near the river's bank, took to living in the upper stories, and boats superseded carriages as a means of transportation in certain sections of the city. Rubber boots were a necessity for those whose labors took them outside.

HAVE BOUGHT LAND IN SAWYER COUNTY
Spider Lake Outing Club, Composed Largely of Janesville People, Recently Incorporated.

Articles of organization of the Spider Lake Outing club, an organization in which several well known Janesville people are interested, have been received by Attorney E. H. Peterson. The club has purchased eight acres of land with 1,100 feet of frontage on Spider Lake in Sawyer county. Two cottages with ten rooms completely furnished are included in the purchase and they front on a body of water, in reality a chain of five lakes, twenty miles long and fifteen miles wide. Muskegonians abound in the waters and deer and bear roam the wild woods, so there will be plenty to satisfy the attention of the Janesville fishermen and outdoors. Dr. E. H. Farnsworth, George E. Kling, Harry McNamara, and E. H. Peterson of this city, H. Chamberlain and Fred Hayden of Milwaukee, Frank McNamara of Hayward, and Dr. E. L. Mason of Eau Claire are some of the members of the club.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

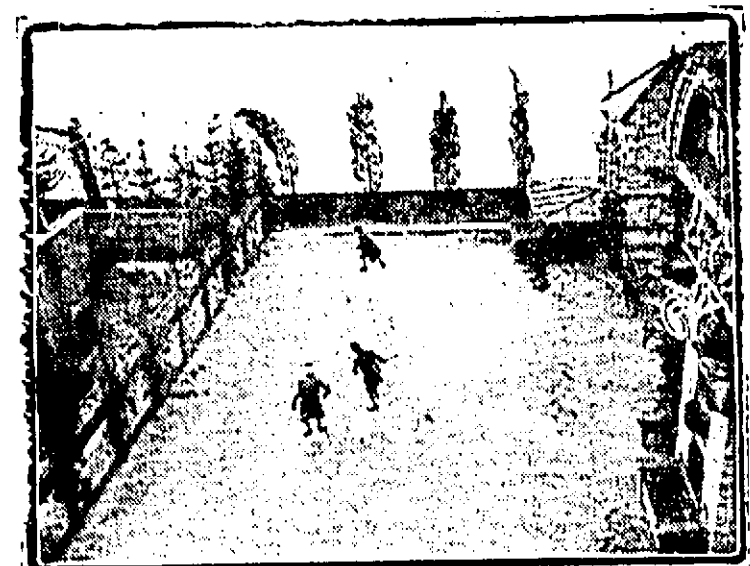

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

New Orleans, La.—"I suffered with inflammation and ulceration for a long time, and had dreadful backache and a weakness. I had been under the doctors' treatment for six months and they claimed I must be operated upon. I was in bed three weeks and could not turn over on either side the pains were so bad and I was so nervous. Then Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by a neighbor, and I had taken it only a short time when I felt relieved and now I am a well woman. I am in fine health and feel like a young girl. I have recommended the Compound to my next door neighbor, and hope that all suffering women will try it."—Mrs. J. Wilson, 4010 Ulloa St., New Orleans, La.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Wilson.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

"No blood drawn," said Dupuy, reassuringly. "A little surprise, tho, for the Lansing Iron people have been in pretty bad odor with the public ever since the receivership matter last year."

"That was the beginning of all these attacks upon me. I hope the morning papers will treat me fairly."

"Oh, there will be no trouble about them. They have not investigated the matter thoroughly enough yet, of course, excepting the Advance. But you did just the right thing today to bring Miss Judith."

Bartelmy was showing not the slightest hesitancy at using his beautiful and accomplished daughter as a decoy in his plottings. In the first place, he desired that she should marry Wheeler Brand, hoping that the young reformer's zeal against him would disappear; secondly, by prevailing on her to pay attention socially to the Nolan family he was confident toward the newspaper owner, who greeted him courteously.

"Judge, this is an unexpected honor. An honor to come—believe me, Mr. Nolan, an honor to come."

Nolan saw Brand's dexterous maneuver toward the door, and on calling to him not to go he halted, turned toward the center of the room and stood watching the strangely assorted group of men.

Nolan next addressed Dupuy, who expressed his thanks at the granting of his request for an interview.

Judge Bartelmy, always quick to notice every detail or phase of what was transpiring in his immediate presence, saw that Brand was ill at ease. He called to him cheerily:

"My daughter and I were just speaking of you, Wheeler. The reformer sails a treacherous sea."

"The port is in sight, Judge Bartelmy," was the calm answer.

Bartelmy would have made a success on the stage. In fact, he had been acting a part most of his life and proved the truth of Richard Mansfield's aphorism that "the best actors are never seen on the stage."

At Wheeler Brand's significant reply, which smote as ominously on the ears of the judge as it did on those of Dupuy, the jurist gave an inward shiver quite imperceptible to the eye and replied in the most jovial of manners:

"Not so? That's good. That's worth while. Stick to the helm, my boy," he laughed.

"Brand ain't at sea, Judge," put in Nolan good naturedly. "He's in the clouds. The air up there makes your nose bleed; but, by the Eternal, you see all that's going on down here."

There was much "going on down here" that Bartelmy by all means preferred to have remain unseen, yet he managed to reply, with an attempt that the owner of the Advance would capitulate and become his friend. As for Judith, she little comprehended the entire significance of her father's attitude, and if she had, her frank, genuine nature, which revolted at trickery and deceit, would not have permitted her to continue to do his bidding. She admired and loved her father.

She knew that her mother before her had aided her father in his work and ambitions to a considerable extent, and now that her mother was no longer alive she felt it her duty to fill her place in every possible way. After all, she had only a young woman's knowledge of the ways of men in the business and professional world, and she could discern in the attacks on her father nothing beyond what he himself had taught her to believe—that they were the efforts of envious men or ignorant reformers or misguided fanatics, who assailed him entirely without just cause. However, it would seem that the judge would in any event have attempted to conceal from others his motives for procuring the presence of Judith at the Nolan home on this day. It would seem, no matter how low he had sunk, that he would have denied that he had ever employed her unsuspectingly as a decoy on other occasions. That was the least this father could do for his daughter. But he made no attempt to protect her reputation, at any rate to Dupuy, for in answer to the lawyer lobbyist's remark that he had done just the right thing to bring Miss Judith today he replied with his characteristic coolness:

"Oh, in matters of this kind my daughter is of the greatest help to me." After a moment he continued, "I don't at all like your idea, Dupuy, of my proposing this man Nolan at the club."

"That's our trump card," insisted the other. "Every man has his price—even this young Brand if we could only find out what it is."

CHAPTER VII.

BRAND and Nolan came out of the library after their smoke and were surprised to find Judge Bartelmy and Dupuy in the drawing room. Brand did not appear enthusiastic at the circumstance and, nodding stiffly in the general direction of the two men, proceeded to circle around them toward the door leading to the hall.

Judge Bartelmy advanced pleasantly

at sincerity:

"More power to you, Wheeler! More power to you!"

Nolan stepped toward the jurist.

"You're a generous foe, Judge Bartelmy," he said warmly, deceived by the smooth tactics of the judge.

"Not so? That's hardly the word," responded Bartelmy, and with deference.

"Wheeler and I merely energize differently. He is dynamic; I am static, and that is because he is young and I am old."

"He'll outgrow that, Judge. You never will," remarked Dupuy, crossing to Nolan's side.

"But under every system of free government," pronounced Bartelmy in his best judicial manner, "there have always been conservative and liberal parties, whose leaders, while they differed perhaps in method, have been stimulated by an equal love of country."

"That is true, Judge Bartelmy," said Brand, "but I can't concede that you belong to the conservative party."

The judge showed surprise.

"But I don't understand you," he stammered, when Brand went on determinedly:

"Are you not seeking to introduce into our country methods of government undreamed of by our forefathers?"

The judge laughed as though in agreeable tolerance. His skill at verbal parrying was standing him in good stead.

"Oh, I had as much enthusiasm myself in my youth," he said, "but my legal training has forced upon me a certain unfortunate exactitude of thought. But come, come. We old lawyers have long since learned that we cannot carry our quarrels out of court. For instance, of a morning my best friend, Judge Culver, may be at drawn swords with me over some point of law, but the same evening will find us both fellows well met, exchanging stories before a club fire."

Nolan nodded his head understandingly.

"Yes, Judge, that's life—that's life," he commented.

"Half the laws of our country are framed up in clubs," interjected Dupuy.

Bartelmy raised his hand and made a gesture of disapproval.

"I wouldn't say that."

Brand saw an opportunity to score.

Bartelmy pretended to side with Brand.

"That's neat, Wheeler," he laughed.

"In scored off you that time, Dupuy," Bartelmy paused. He had now reached a point where he was about to make his supreme effort to capture Nolan and the Advance, to make them friendly to him. He was about to play what Dupuy had truthfully termed "the trump card."

"By the way, Mr. Nolan, Judge Culver and I usually dine two or three times a week at the Oak Door club. We need you there. FORTY YEARS AGO

January 20, 1870.—The remains of Henry Vannoy, who was killed on the railroad a week since, were conveyed to the depot on Sabbath evening, in charge of his brother who had come in answer to a telegram from his home in Port Monmouth, New Jersey, the former residence of the deceased, where the remains are to be interred. The widow and little daughter accompanied them.

It is gratifying to know that neither Mr. Capelle nor Mr. Montgomery were seriously injured at the Jefferson railroad accident yesterday. The former gentleman has reached his home in this city and shows only a few bruises, while the latter still remains at Jefferson and has some severe cuts about the face.

A curious feature of the accident at Jefferson yesterday, was that the third car of the train bounded clear of the track, the six immediately following passing the break in safety, while the last car and caboose plunged off. The trouble was the result of a broken rail.

DAILY DIET HINTS

FERMENTATION.

Fermentation of food in the stomach is one of the common sources of disease, and it may act constantly. The product of such fermentation is poisonous. It is to be avoided by allowing the stomach to be emptied before taking the next meal, which precludes eating between meals; by avoiding mixing foods, especially such as milk or fruit which require only an hour in the stomach, with, for instance, meat, which requires more than three times as long, or rice with beans or eggs with nuts; by maintaining the normal motor activity of the stomach and intestines by proper exercise; and by avoiding inharmonious mental states, which affect digestion. Nervous excitement may draw to the brain the blood which should flow to the stomach when a meal is to be digested; bathing the head in cold water will tend to restore equilibrium. Massage over stomach, liver and bowels is in some cases very beneficial, and special exercises will strengthen the muscles upon which the mechanical part of digestion largely depends. Hill climbing is good. The vibrator may be used to advantage in many cases. When there is a bad taste in the mouth in the morning, with coated tongue, fermentation is the cause, and there cannot be normal health till the prime cause is removed. Fasting is a radical remedy, requiring caution.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

The hearty hand-grasp, the "glad-to-see-you, old man!" and the sunshine of a soul for a soul are too often for those only who can ride in parlor cars. Remember, sunshine is better than cloudiness. The man who opens the door of his heart once in a while, who demonstrates his belief in others possessing some ability, who will foster that ability by confidence and kindness, who believes that a man, though younger and an employee, has brains of his own and ideas of his own, that may be as keen and useful as his; who believes a pat on the back and a kind word to be good antidotes for a poisoned courage. You reader, now sitting in your office—six clerks within call—do not lose yourself in your own estimation, and in the estimation of your trusted ones, by intimating that you find nothing but dolts, flake-eyed dolts, to do the work you have laid out for them. Do not strain your eyes to find alphas and assistance, foolish inattention and dowdy indifference. You are not the whole watch; in many cases you are not even the mainpring. You are often but the hands, indicative of work being done to keep you running. Put a helping hand to the heavy load of the struggler. It will make you happy. 'Twill make him happy. And to create happiness is a masterpiece.

FARMER GETS WORST OF ANTI-MEAT STRIKE

Beef Trust Does Not Suffer Materially from Agitation for Low Prices.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 20.—Instead of the beef trust suffering from the agitation for lower prices, it is actually making money out of the rage of the people, while the western farmer feels the effects of the anti-meat strike and boycott to a large degree. The big corporation is purchasing its live stock at lower prices than formerly and at the same prices as usual, or at most at only a slight reduction. The same conditions prevail in the butter market, which is controlled by the packers and in which the reduction in price is saddled onto the farmer, the big beef trust demanding its usual profits despite the decline in prices.

At the South Omaha stock yards, cattle, sheep and hogs are bringing less money than they did ten days ago, but the wholesale price of fresh meats has not changed.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 20.—The fight against high prices of food is beginning to bear fruit in Iowa, as is evidenced by a drop of five and six cents per pound in butter, in a great number of cities in Iowa.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—Prices on nearly all food products have taken a tumble as a result of the crusade against high prices.

TRY TO "SMOKE" J. R. KEENE OUT

Speculator Denies He Was Interested in Hocking Coal Pool.

New York, Jan. 20.—Efforts to smoke out James H. Keene, the reported manager of the recently collapsed pool in Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron stock are under way on the part of members in the pool and others affected by the big rise in the stock and its disastrous slump last week.

The purported text of the pool agreement included a specific stipulation that holders of 60 per cent of the certificates subscribed for by the pool had the right to call for an accounting. It was reported that lawyers representing holders of the requisite number of shares had the necessary signatures and would at once serve the request upon Mr. Keene.

Mr. Keene refuses to discuss the subject except to reiterate that he knows nothing about the pool.

Stops Colds and Coughing Quick

If you want to stop that cold right off and in the easiest kind of a way, just get a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It's the largest selling Cold and Cough Medicine in the world because it stops coughs and colds quicker than any other known remedy or prescription, and it does that because it gets at the cause—kills the germs of cold—cuts the mucous and gets rid of it naturally.

It contains no habit forming drugs—nothing harmful—only real old fashioned pine-tar, sassafras, rhubarb, honey and other beneficial ingredients—all plainly stated on the bottle.

Made by the same known scientific process for the past twenty years. You ought to take Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey just as soon as you begin to feel "coldy"—just the minute your throat begins to tickle—then you'll stay off these colds and coughs.

Keep it in the house—always ready—that's the right way. Every time you sneeze, shiver, "sniffle" or feel "full in the head" you need it.

At all druggists in 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Children take it readily. Look for our trade-mark (the bell) and Granville Metcalf's picture on every bottle. That identifies genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey.

A CHRISTMAS ACCIDENT.

When Rev. Septimus Goggles was superintending the decoration of his church, he should not have sat on the mistletoe; but it was lucky that it was not holy!

Peculiar Cause of Death.

The coroner at Hackney, England, mentioned to the jury the other day that he had just inquired into a remarkable death. A child of nine weeks was ill, and the parents, thinking it was going to die, went to a clergyman to baptize it. He poured water over the child's head, and medical evidence indicated that this set up congestion of the lungs, and the child died of pneumonia.

Ancient Superstition.

Of domestic superstitions one of the most curious is that a recalcitrant grate fire may be made to burn by placing a poker, point upward, upon it. The usual explanation given is that, in some mysterious manner, "it draws the fire up." The custom originated in the fact that the poker with the fire bars forms a cross, and the use of this cross was to exorcise the evil spirits who were preventing the fire from burning.

SEND US WORD

Subscribers to The Gazette will confer a favor upon the publishers by sending word immediately to this office of any irregularity in delivery of paper, any error in the dating of subscription—in fact reporting anything that is not correct regarding delivery of paper.

During the recent contest there were many opportunities for mistakes and it is the wish of the paper to rectify any error which may have been made at that time.
